

OHLONE Drops Game to San Jose

Renegades make late inning push, but fall short in loss

APRIL 17, 2008

SAN JOSE, CA – The Ohlone College Baseball team dropped a Coast Conference game to San Jose City College on a windy Thursday night at Pal Stadium in San Jose. Starter Cory Krisman (2-3) started for the renegades and was credited for the loss. Krisman

San Jose took advantage of the conditions and the field and elevated balls for home runs. Ohlone got there offense going in the sixth inning as Designated hitter David Luna hit his 4th homerun of the season, a 2 run shot to centerfield to put Ohlone on the board. Justin Lunday followed that up in the 7th inning with a Home run of his own his 2nd of the season. The renegades were able to score 4 more runs of the bats of Michael Vandebusch, Ryan Harmon, and Nick Caravelli. It would not be enough however as San Jose put up another 7 runs in the last three innings to defeat the Renegades.

Ohlone looks to get back on the winning side of things as they host Chabot College this Saturday. Game time is set for 12:00pm
