GOOD NEWS - October 2014

Accounting Professor
In response to a recent article featuring our relatively new accounting professor, Dr. Jim Andrews, a student wrote a very positive follow-up about him. A quote from the message reads:

...I almost gave up on Accounting when I took the financial accounting class for the first time.... [I] had to try the class again, this time with Professor Andrews. On my first day of financial accounting class with Professor Andrews, I already learned how to do the four financial statements which I never understood the first time I took the class.... In addition to his great style of teaching, Professor Andrews cares about the success of his students.... For all of the things he had done for Ohlone so far, Ohlone made a great a decision when they hired Professor Andrews.

Chemical Disaster Drill
Seven Ohlone College Nursing students participated in the Kaiser Fremont Chemical Disaster Drill last month. The students were dressed in full Haz-Mat suits and worked side by side with Kaiser physicians to triage, diagnose, and treat simulated patients. And this is the 5th year the nursing students have participated in a Kaiser Disaster Drill, which have also been conducted at Kaiser Hayward and Kaiser Oakland.

American Legion 40 et 8 Convocation
Five nursing students accompanied by Nursing Instructor Nancy Dinsmore volunteered their time at the American Legion 40 et 8 convocation held this year at the Santa Clara Convention Center. The students were prepared to handle minor emergencies. The veterans appreciated their presence and reported that they had peace of mind nurses were on the premises. The faculty and students happily reported their nursing skills were not needed.

EDT Program
We have been listed as one of 9 innovative programs for Entertainment Design and Technology in Entertainment Designer Magazine with a link to more information about our program.

CO Website picture
Ohlone has been successful in getting yet another picture posted to the Chancellor’s Office webpage. This one is a back-to-school banner that shows off the diversity of our student population.

Foundation Good News
A record $80,000 was raised at this year’s 30th Annual Ohlone College Golf Tournament, a 54% increase over the previous 2013 high water mark. The event was supported by 26 major sponsors, also more than previous years. The Ohlone College Foundation has designated $50,000 to be used to support College athletics and $30,000 to support other college programs. Ohlone College Outstanding Alumni and prominent TV news anchor and reporter Dina Eastwood emceed the banquet, and there was special recognition for Fremont Bank's 30 years of support.
