

Baseball photos on display

— Page 5

Building 1 wrapped in plastic

— Page 5

Ed-student wants to be Top Model

— Page 5

OHLONE COLLEGE MONITOR

Vol. XXXVII No. 4

Fremont, California

Thursday, September 21, 2006

ASOC vote set

By MANIKA CASTERLINE
Staff writer

The Associated Students of Ohlone College (ASOC) campaign season has begun as of Sept. 18. While there are seven available executive offices, no one is running for the vacant seats of secretary, treasurer or legislative representative. The candidates who are vying for the positions of vice-president and representative at large are doing so with no individuals in the way of their political pursuits.

There are several specific campaign guidelines that all of the ASOC candidates must adhere to. All campaign material had to have been officially approved by ASOC adviser Renee Wong prior to posting.

However, at a mandatory meeting on Sept. 15, she highly stressed that a campaign ought to be creative in its approach and execution.

Some candidates asked if it would be permissible to campaign online. The response was that campaigning should only occur within the grounds of the Ohlone campus. Each candidate is only allowed to spend $50 on their campaign and must submit an expenditure report before the election.

On the day of the election, there are two restrictions placed on the seven students who are seeking public office: campaign materials are prohibited within 75 feet around Building 1 and no audio or video can be in the 75 feet circumference surrounding where the voting will be taking place.

Ohlone will be hosting a "Meet the Candidates" forum on Sept. 27 from noon to 1 p.m. in the Quad during Club Day. Candidates are each expected to deliver a two to three minute speech outlining their views as well as their rationale for seeking an executive ASOC position.

The forum will give students their only opportunity to get a better sense of who each of the seven candidates are and a broader view of what type of student representation they ought to expect for the next year.

The election will be held on Oct. 3 and 4. Voting will take place in the Quad from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. Election results will be posted Oct. 5 outside the ASOC office.

See Page 3 for the ASOC candidates' statements.

Hopeful students at Transfer Day

Staff photo

Tuesday's Transfer Day drew students like bees to honey. See story on Page 6.

Violence Exhibit

Photo by Christa Meier

"Violence Against Women, Women Against Violence" exhibit in Smith Center. Story on page 4.

Board draws response

By EMILY BURKETT
Staff writer

After several inflammatory comments from the Board of Trustees controversial President Bob Brunton, the College Council held a special session to discuss the latest in a long line of grievances. In a recent interview in The Tri-City Voice, Brunton implied that Ohlone College President Doug Treadway's views may be shortsighted and that the Board would not move to extend Treadway's contract.

Treadway came forward during the Sept. 13 Board meeting, saying that if no one else would defend him, he would defend himself and demanded an apology and a letter of correction sent to The Tri-City Voice. Treadway's proclamation to the Board appears to have served as a call-to-arms for much of the college community.

While organizations tied closely to Treadway have chosen to merely hold open forums, other associations, such as the Faculty Senate and coalitions of staff members, have moved to voice their opinions before the Board.

Yesterday, the Faculty Senate held a session in which two resolutions were proposed and passed, one hailing Treadway for his exemplary leadership and the other admonishing Brunton for his unethical practices. The Senate seemed enthused by the carefully selected verbiage, hoping to push the Board to action.

This isn't the first clash catalyzed by Brunton's actions. In fact, Brunton has been plagued by several accusations of misconduct during his lengthy time on the Board.

Continued on Page 3

Study abroad in India

By OMER AHMED
News editor

Students at Ohlone College will have a chance to tour India's "Golden Triangle" and earn credit during winter break as part of a new international education program.

The study tour is planned for Jan. 4 to 21 of 2007. It will cost those attending $3,100 plus airfare if a sign-up quota of 20 people is met. Otherwise, the cost will be $3,300 plus airfare. Courses to be taught during the trip include Speech-105

Intercultural Communication with Professor and trip coordinator Kay Harrison and Art-203 Travel Photography with Professor Cynthia Katona. The classes are not required for going on the trip.

During the trip, students will visit the popular "Golden Triangle" of Indian cities which is composed of the nation's capital, New Delhi, the home of the Taj Mahal, Agra, and Fremont's sister city, Jaipur. Naina Lal, India native and travel contactor for the trip, said, "We want students to see the old India as well as the newer, more modern India."

Ohlone Electronics Instructor Hajendra "Gary" Mishra, who may be attending the trip, described the "Golden Triangle" as representing three different aspects of India. He explained that New Delhi is more modern and cosmopolitan while Agra is more expressive through its architecture and the art of India's Mughal period, when Muslim emperors ruled. He described Jaipur as being more representative of
Continued on Page 6

World Forum on Tuesday

By MICHAEL ABURAS
Staff writer

The next World Forum will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 26 from noon to 1 p.m. in Epler Gymnasium. Alfonso de Maria y Campos, the current consul general of Mexico in San Francisco, will be speaking about Immigration and U.S./Mexico Relations.

In an article for the "Journal of Multicultural Nursing and Health," de Maria y Campos has expressed the opinion that "Perhaps one of the most important things to the migrant is to feel that he may maintain his own cultural traditions while also learning about and contributing to the U.S. culture."

There will be a question and answer session from 1 to 2 p.m. following the speech. The event is free and open to the public.