

New look in the cafeteria

The cafeteria in Building 5 has a new look. After summer semester, hammers and screwdrivers were put to work on the redesign of the Fresh and Natural Cafe. The most notable of changes are brighter lights overhead as well as new tiles below. The salad bar has moved from the center of the room, making more room for people. The menu has stayed relatively the same. New cafeteria hours are 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Obama has different approach to Islam

in various industries. The fact that this viral video was even made has already helped to dissipate the narrow-minded thinking that was dominant during Bush's presidency. The fact that Obama has a working knowledge of Islam is evident in how he speaks about the religion. The dialogue no longer depicts the religion as unreasonable.

The video has received 263,707 views and will inevitably cause much debate because it is the first time in eight years that a President has said so many positive things about Islam.

This gesture made to American Muslims is a vivid contrast to the actions made against Islam during the Bush Administration. Obama is making a solid effort to eradicate the negative images that were drilled into the American psyche during Bush's presidency. Only time will tell if the President will turn his optimistic promises into real change.

iPhone popular, but isn't for everybody

its G1 since many websites have Flash media components and it enhances browsing a website. And there are competing devices that have multimedia messaging & the ability to tether (the device).

Ultimately the choice is yours. And that choice is one of style over substance. Apple was branded on the idea of selling simple computers for individuals who are not tech savvy PC users.

But they are trending far from that with the creation of the iPhone. And frankly the device transforms Apple into marketing the PC of cell phones. Over rated and prone to epic failure.
