

Getting TV time

Friday's show will differ from the long-standing Ohlone Network News broadcast that goes on air every Wednesday because the Ohlone Network Sports will focus more on sports.

"I'm excited," said producer Neil Liwanag. "I can't wait for basketball season."

The class itself teaches the students the basics behind sports broadcasting. From producing live games, to putting highlight packages together for a weekly sports highlight show.

"It gives people an opportunity to get your foot in the door," said Nico Aguilar, another student in the class.

Ohlone Network Sports will debut on channel 28 at 3 p.m. on Friday, and will air every Friday at 3 p.m.

for a collaboration of emotions and skills to be let out on the court that resulted in wins.

They didn't always ride on cloud nine throughout the season, losing tough games against rival teams Chabot College and CCSF. However the Renegades came back and fought hard and won in rematches against the Gladiators and the Rams.

With last season as a memory and a new one coming up, the team is looking forward to picking up the ball again, and just as Jamal Blalock said, "be better".

J.P. and company will open season in two weeks when they host the annual Jon Wallace tournament at Ohlone on the weekend of November 6 to 8.

Men's soccer wins 2-1 over Cabrillo for third straight

By TOMÁS ORTEGA
Sports writer

It's been a few weeks since the Ohlone Men's Soccer team has strung together consecutive wins, losing back to back games to Evergreen Valley and Las Positas.

But recently, a positive streak has shaped up for them. After a stunning 9-1 victory over Mission College Friday afternoon gave them back-to-back wins, Tuesday's close 2-1 win against Cabrillo gets them back on a winning streak.

However, the win over Cabrillo wasn't a comforting win. Though the squad is off to one of the best starts in school history, there are still noticeable flaws that need to be addressed.

Cabrillo's style of play mirrored that of Las Positas, a style where they rely entirely on controlling the ball by sending quick passes around the field.

With this type of play, Cabrillo kept the possession to their side of the field and gave themselves some good looks at the goal.

Lucky for Ohlone though, most of the shots either went wide of the frame or were stopped by goalkeeper Iman Aghel.

Ohlone struggled in the opening ten minutes of the match. Cabrillo kept moving the ball up the sidelines via left striker Diego Gonzalez.

Ohlone compensated the attack by dropping all of its midfielders to help out the defense. This limited Ohlone's ability to counterattack effectively.

Dustin Richards' opened the scoring with an 18th-minute strike from the right side of the 18. Ohlone forward Marc Wilson dribbled up the right seam, closing the space between him and the left center back.

Wilson didn't notice Richards making a run down the right side toward the 18 yard box and cut back to the middle.

Wilson was met by a midfielder who came back to help with the attack and knocked the ball away from him, directly to Richards who took a first touch shot, giving Ohlone the 1-0 lead.

Cabrillo's best chance to score in the first half was halted by Aghel in the closing minutes of the first half. Cabrillo forward Jose Espinoza got himself free from the Ohlone defenders and attacked the 6-yard box.

The Ohlone keeper dove at Espinoza's feet, maintaining the single goal advantage.

On the ensuing counterattack, Ohlone's George Mayer II created his own space just outside the top of the 18 with a foot drag and took a clear shot on goal for the 2-0 lead.

Cabrillo came out the second half greeted by a more attack-oriented Ohlone team. They must have seen something they liked of Mayer's play.

More specifically, Cabrillo forward Edgar Bedolla, who took advantage of a lax Ohlone defense nearly the same way Mayer did for his goal, dropping the score to a single goal deficit.

There were no great opportunities by either team to score the rest of the match except for a last-minute chance by Cabrillo.

Nigel Ramnauth had plenty of room to run down the right side and took a shot from 25 yards out. The ball sailed high and wide right of the upper 90 just before the final whistle.

"The hallmark of a good team is that they can close out a game even if it's ugly," Ohlone Head Coach Jan Eric Nordmo said.

"Now I wouldn't call this game completely ugly, but I wouldn't kiss it."

Ohlone will look for their 10th win of the season when they take on DeAnza on Friday at 4 p.m.
