Stanza College on Sept. 11. All of Pacheco Quesada's family still lives in Costa Rica, including his mother, who is an elementary school teacher and his two brothers ages 16 and 31.

An earthquake measuring 7.9 on the Richter scale rocked his homeland on Sept. 7. but fortunately, none of his family was severely affected.

"Some of my family's homes were damaged but nobody got hurt or anything else," Pacheco Quesada said.

Pacheco Quesada still plans to visit his hometown as much as a few times a year.

Pacheco Quesada has only been here in the United States full time for a little more than 18 months but has had a visible impact everywhere he has been.

Pacheco Quesada played for his countries national team for four years and has been involved with soccer since the age of 5, so his success is no surprise.

His talent hasn't gone unnoticed by other coaches either as he hopes to transfer to a university or state college on a soccer scholarship.

CSU Sonoma, Monterey and the University of San Francisco are some of the schools that have showed interest in the 25-year-old.

Pacheco Quesada said he hopes to finish his education and play professionally.

The impressive season continues for team captain Pacheco Quesada and it has not gone unnoticed by his coach Jan Eric Nordmo.

"In my opinion, he would not be far from being a serious contender for professional play," Nordmo said. The Renegades play at home on Friday against Monterey Peninsula College at 4 p.m.

The Lady Renegades opened Coast Conference soccer play with a decisive 4-1 victory over North Division rival Chabot College Tuesday at Central Park in Fremont.

The triumph gives Ohlone a 3-0 conference record and a 3-0-2 overall record accumulating an impressive eight goals against two losses.

The Lady Renegades didn't waste any time getting on the scoreboard early when Jessica Hernandez recorded her first of two assists on a goal by Elizabeth Mooney in the third minute of play.

"Scoring early is exciting because it brings everybody up and lifts the team up, everybody gets excited," Mooney Said.

It was also a new look at the goal for Ohlone with Kamryn Herley making a diving save just before her on the horizon with a wealth of talent and all of their league games still to play.

Greivin Pacheco Quesada, fresh off a four-goal performance, scored his fifth goal of the season for the Renegades on an assist by Jose Rodriguez.
