Santa Rosa College came to Fremont with one thing in mind: win. They were able to do just that, defeating Ohlone 3-1 on Tuesday.

It was a tough loss for Ohlone, especially with a dazzling pitching performance from freshman Rae-Ann Garza.

Garza went the distance for the Lady Renegades and despite a strong performance, couldn't secure a victory. "We made some mistakes out there but I can always do better and make better pitches out there," Garza said.

"My defense talking to me really helps during tough spots. Sometimes I just have to step back and tell myself, what I am doing wrong and regroup."

The Ohlone College baseball team earned its most exciting victory of the early season in walk-off fashion, defeating visiting Contra Costa College 6-5 on a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth.

The Renegades improve to 5-1 on the season after catcher Josh Egan hit a towering fly ball to center field, plating Isaiah Bond for the go-ahead run and walk-off win.

"I love it. I live for stuff like that," Egan said. "When they intentionally walked my teammate in front of me it felt great because I want to be in that moment."

Egan was referring to the intentional walk that third baseman Brock Pradere received to load the bases and set up the game-winning hit for Egan.

"I felt good up there but I understand what they were trying to do," Pradere said.

"You get a lot of feelings...
