Ohlone responds to Oregon mass shooting

We’re no longer fazed by mass killings in U.S.

 Ramirez to give presentation

Maria Ramirez will present “Chicana HerStory” from noon to 1:30 p.m. Oct. 16 in the Smith Center on the Fremont campus. Ramirez has delivered the presentation around the world, including at the 43rd annual National Ethnic Studies Conference at Mississippi State University in June and Mississippi in March.

Board to meet Wednesday

The Board of Trustees will meet from 1 to 7 p.m. Wednesday in Room 7101 on the Fremont campus. Board meeting minutes and accompanying documents are posted online beforehand at www.ohlone.edu/organizations/board.

Survey: 1 in 5 overwhelmed to reduce the stigma surrounding mental health, so the campus asked questions about how many students would seek help.

Of the one in five students who said they would seek mental health services if needed, 30 percent of students said the act of talking to a mental health professional would be embarrassing or fear. In fact, 71 percent of students said they would feel comfortable suggesting personal counseling to friends who are struggling with mental health. For more information, go to http://stepupohlone.org.

If you find yourself needing help, you can reach out to the Alameda County Crisis Support Hotline at 800-399-331 or the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 800-273-8255.

O’Brien’s efforts are badly needed. The free speech will be on campus that Ohlone gives as a community college. I am routine, my response here is routine. The reporting of this shooting is the absence of something needs to be done. We have seen more and more, these killings are carried out in a way that will make the murderers famous. Some are filmed, some leave a video manifesto before carrying out their act of violence. Taking away this last piece of the 15 minutes in the world removes any pride they would otherwise get from this. For more information, contact Campus Police Services at 510-659-6111.

What do you think? Tweet me @SamCamp08

Ramirez, whose family and friends reassured the campus that Ohlone gives “the highest priority to the safety and security of our students, faculty and staff.”

Ohlone also has increased training and planning we have implemented includes the local police force conducting training activity for an “active shooter” scenario on our Fremont campus. They all meet with one of the premises and then either get a pat on the back for doing well or a chat if there are concerns and recommendations.

Brad Bratton, director of Ohlone’s Student Health Campus at assembly meeting on the Fremont and Newark campuses.

They all meet with one of the premises and then either get a pat on the back for doing well or a chat if there are concerns and recommendations. Bratton wrote in an email.

He kept your eyes and ears open and don’t hesitate to let us know if you have a student of concern. Many of our students may have some emotional response even years after a shooting.

Depression screening events will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the health center in Building 7 on the Fremont campus, and from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the first-floor lobby on the Newark campus.

The adventure about mental wellbeing. Fifty-one percent “feel that Ohlone encourages free and open discussion about mental and emotional health.”

STEP Up Ohlone’s goal is to reduce the stigma surrounding mental health, so the campus asked questions about how many students would seek help. Seventy-four percent of students said they would seek mental health services if needed. However, when asked what would likely stop them seeking help, 40 percent of students said embarrassment or fear. Still, 71 percent of students said they would feel comfortable suggesting personal counseling to friends who are struggling with mental health.

For more information, go to http://stepupohlone.org.

If you find yourself needing help, you can reach out to the Alameda County Crisis Support Hotline at 800-399-331 or the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 800-273-8255.

Once implemented, no one should enter or exit rooms for any reason unless directed by law enforcement. Secure campus: Initiated for a potential threat of danger to occupants of a campus or school building and when any movement will put students and staff in jeopardy.

Further emergency response actions or critical information updates would be disseminated through Ohlone College’s Emergency Mass Notifications System (http://www.ohlone.edu/org/security/regroup.html).

For more information, contact Campus Police Services at 510-659-6111.

What do you think? Tweet me @SamCamp08

Ramirez, whose family and friends reassured the campus that Ohlone gives “the highest priority to the safety and security of our students, faculty and staff.”

Ohlone also has increased training and planning we have implemented includes the local police force conducting training activity for an “active shooter” scenario on our Fremont campus.

They all meet with one of the premises and then either get a pat on the back for doing well or a chat if there are concerns and recommendations. Bratton wrote in an email.

He kept your eyes and ears open and don’t hesitate to let us know if you have a student of concern. Many of our students may have some emotional response even years after a shooting.

Depression screening events will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the health center in Building 7 on the Fremont campus, and from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the first-floor lobby on the Newark campus.

The adventure about mental wellbeing. Fifty-one percent “feel that Ohlone encourages free and open discussion about mental and emotional health.”

STEP Up Ohlone’s goal is to reduce the stigma surrounding mental health, so the campus asked questions about how many students would seek help. Seventy-four percent of students said they would seek mental health services if needed. However, when asked what would likely stop them seeking help, 40 percent of students said embarrassment or fear. Still, 71 percent of students said they would feel comfortable suggesting personal counseling to friends who are struggling with mental health.

For more information, go to http://stepupohlone.org.

If you find yourself needing help, you can reach out to the Alameda County Crisis Support Hotline at 800-399-331 or the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 800-273-8255.

Once implemented, no one should enter or exit rooms for any reason unless directed by law enforcement. Secure campus: Initiated for a potential threat of danger to occupants of a campus or school building and when any movement will put students and staff in jeopardy.

Further emergency response actions or critical information updates would be disseminated through Ohlone College’s Emergency Mass Notifications System (http://www.ohlone.edu/org/security/regroup.html).

For more information, contact Campus Police Services at 510-659-6111.

What do you think? Tweet me @SamCamp08