  7. Provide a brief narrative that describes the services provided.

    The primary objective of Ohlone College is to create an outstanding learning environment that advances the development, growth, and success of each student. The purpose of the Professional Development Committee is to design and support professional development activities for faculty, classified staff, and management to provide a broad range of educational approaches and support services necessary to ensure that students achieve their highest potential. Consequently, the mission of Professional Development is to support quality teaching, learning, and support services for all students by providing the necessary resources for employees to develop and fulfill career, personal, and professional needs and goals. Continuous professional development and training is essential to maintain highly qualified faculty and staff committed to serving the educational needs of students. Charter was updated Fall 2011 and is available on the Professional Development website:
    http://www.ohlone.edu/org/profdevcomm/docs/profdevcommcharter.pdf

  8. Describe how the program specifically serves students, faculty, staff, or other.

    The College has a strong commitment to the professional development of all its employees. Many professional growth opportunities are available and include fixed and floating flex workshops, funded conferences, and partial tuition reimbursement for courses.

    The College provides $20,000 in 2011-12 ($35,000 - 40,000 in the past 5 years) to the Professional Development Committee to fund conferences, workshops, courses, and orientation for full and adjunct faculty, staff, and management. In the last five years we have had a sufficient budget to fund all conference requests, orientations, and funding for events such as the Pre-Graduation dinner, Classified Professional Development Day, flex day breakfasts and lunches, and new faculty mentors.

The College supported several Ohlone faculty and managers persue their Doctoral degree from Alliant University on site at Ohlone. At times, additional departmental funding for Classified Staff and Student Services staff is available to attend improvement trainings, e.g., Datatal workshops. Some departments have grants which fund additional professional development activities.

Ohlone is a "Learning College" therefore all employees are encouraged to learn at work. This philosophy is modeled by our managers and faculty leaders with the use of wikis, blogs, and online dialogs. The Learning College Week of professional development activities, which occurs the week before the start of each semester, began Fall 2006. The Annual Classified Staff Professional Development Day began Spring 2009.

Ohlone College has an active Professional Development Committee which supports the Learning College Model for faculty and staff. Professional Development is considered the “Learning College Hub.” The activities of the Innovation and Technology Center in Fremont and the Learning Resource Center in Newark are linked to the Professional Development web site and included on the professional development calendar. Students are served by having faculty and staff actively engaged in the learning process. Faculty share strategies related to current learning technologies, student outcomes, and assessment.

9. Describe how the program or service needs are addressed (how the program/service accomplishes what it's supposed to do.) How are current technologies applied?

The Innovation and Technology Center (ITC – 1407) was renovated in 2006 using Title III funds (for hardware and software) and college funds (for furniture, painting, carpeting, window covers, and full spectrum lighting). The ITC provided ongoing opportunities for full and part time faculty and staff professional development. In Fall 2007, the Education Technologist resigned and this position was left vacant due to college budget concerns. As a result the robust atmosphere of learning that was initially created, diminished during the 2007-08 academic year. In Fall 2008, 1407 B became used as the Fremont Video Conference Center and in Spring 2009, new technology (“Thunder”) was added to the room to allow for robust presentations as well as videoconferencing. In the 2010-11 academic year this room was used as a student classroom. Now Professional Development activities are held in smart classrooms throughout the campus and in the new Building 7 conference rooms.

The room, 1407A, continues to be available for full-time and adjunct faculty use, for workshops, and for assistance with online course preparation and implementation and CurricUNET Program Review and assessment.

In January 2008, the Newark Center opened, which houses the Learning Resource Center which has become a technological hub. Numerous workshops on technology assisted teaching methodologies and use of technology have been offered over the last five years (lists are available).

An Access database is used to monitor Faculty and Staff professional development (flex) hours. This database was developed by College personnel and interfaces with our Colleague system to track Professional Development activities of all college employees.

10. Discuss the impact of the program on the college and/or other programs. Highlight any services, reports or functions supplied, in whole or in part, by this service area that supports state or federal compliance mandates for the College.

Professional Development workshops affect all areas of the college. Employees from all departments engage in the various workshops offered on campus or attend conferences or courses off campus funded by Staff Development or their departments. The Faculty Flex Program meets guidelines provided by the State and the UFO contract. Details for the implementation of the Classified Flex Program are in negotiation. College services are used to maintain the staff development budget and provide conference/course reimbursements.

In the 2011-12 academic year, the Director of Community Education at the college joined the Professional Development Committee for a nice sharing of strategies and programs.

11. Discuss the impact of the program on the community and the impact of the community on the program.

Ohlone College established ongoing joint professional development opportunities in the Science area with local high schools. In Spring 2008, plans began to implement joint professional development opportunities as a part of a grant obtained by the Newark K-12 School District – Project Wired. This grant focused on teaching reading and writing to 5, 6, and 7 graders using technology. A day long professional development workshop on the “Use of the Mac Laptop” which included classroom management activities was conducted during the Spring Learning College Week, 2009.

During Spring 2009, Rick Arellano and Elisa Webb developed the “CAOT Senior Project – Partnership with the Newark Senior Center.” Rick and Elisa volunteer their time and provide workshops on how to use tools such as the IPOD, Kindle, Sony Reader and Internet Blogs.

In the Fall 2010 Learning College Week, over 100 college employees participated in a day-long diversity workshop facilitated by Lee Mun Wah. An additional diversity workshop was conducted for staff during their annual Professional Development Day in March 2011. Information is periodically sent via email to all college employees by the Professional Development Coordinator. Faculty are encouraged to include examples of diversity within their curriculum. Well informed employees are better prepared to create a culture of acceptance on campus and act as role models for our students.

Fall 2011: The GE Plan A Committee reviewed and broadened their definition of Cultural Diversity and courses that are accepted to meet this GE requirement. More detail is available in the college catalog.

• Program Achievement

1. List area-specific outcomes.

Ohlone College Professional Development Outcomes:
(written Spring 2008; revisons January 2012)

1. All college employees engage in a Learning College culture of shared ideas, explore new ways of learning, and participate in the daily exercise of each of us being learners ourselves. College personnel identify and unite together in achieving our primary focus: student success.

2. Faculty develop, use, and assess effective teaching methodologies, including technology, within their classes to facilitate students' ability to meet course and program student learning outcomes.

3. Management, faculty, and staff use research, assessment, and technology resources effectively.

4. Management, faculty and staff demonstrate cultural competence and develop sensitivity and skills in living, learning, and working in a diverse community.

5. Management, faculty, and staff engage in environmental sustainability practices.

2. Identify internal and/or external benchmarks and regulations.

Professional Development standards from California Community College Council for Professional and Organization Development (4C/SD), Professional and Organizational Development Net Work in Higher Education (POD), National Council for Staff, Program, and Organization Development (NCSPOD), and the California State Chancellor’s Office are used as benchmarks for the Ohlone College Professional Development program.
Jackie Whitehouse and Deb Parziale attended a four day POD/NCSP POD workshop in October 2008 and received information on current standards in faculty and staff development and shared information with the professional development committee members.

When the Faculty Flex standards were revised by the state in 2010, faculty flex guidelines were reviewed, revised, and approved by the Professional Development Committee. Revised guidelines were shared with faculty and Deans via email.

3. Enter assessment results for area-specific outcomes and analyze trends.

   See attached list of Professional Development offerings in relation to outcomes during the 2008-09, 2009-2010, and 2011 academic years.

Professional Development developed an Staff Development Access Data Base in 2006 which tracks Professional Development conducted by all college employees. This data base is linked to the Colleague system and provides the following reports: full-time faculty flex totals, adjunct faculty flex totals, Individual Flex projects and conferences completed by faculty, workshops offered on campus, staff flex reports, faculty completing workshops related to active and collaborative learning and technology assisted learning. Most reports are available on the Ohlone College Professional Development Web site.

During 2010-11,
*Faculty Flex was furloughed so faculty did not regularly report their professional development activities to the college.

During 2009-10,
* Full-time faculty completed an average of 48 hours of flex (professional development activities), twice what is required.

During 2008-09,
* Full-time faculty completed an average of 48 hours of flex (professional development activities), twice what is required.
* Ninety nine (total 146) of our full-time faculty and 60 adjunct faculty completed workshops on active and collaborative learning.
* Sixty of our full-time faculty and 13 adjunct faculty completed workshops on technology assisted learning.
* Reports on workshops attended related to teaching and learning are available on the Professional Development web site.
* An example of continuous needs based learning: the Ohlone Public Relations Department requested help for their staff in the use of Microsoft Project and Excel. The Professional Development Coordinator found two Classified Staff persons who volunteered their time to conduct a series of workshops for the Public Relations staff and then be available to assist them in the day to day implementation.

During 2007-08:
100% of all faculty have completed professional development activities in active and collaborative learning and/or technology based learning (data from Staff Development Access data base)
Full-time faculty completed an average of 45 hours of flex professional development activities. Twenty four hours are required by UFO Contract.

College Goals - Date of Posting - January 11, 2012

GOAL 3: Promote continuous, needs-based, learning and professional development opportunities for all district personnel

The position of Associate Vice President of Human Resources and Training was hired in September 2009. A major focus of this position is to build upon the foundation already created by the Professional Development Coordinator (PD) and the Professional Development Committee (PDC).

The PDC had an annual budget of $25K in 2009-2010; $30K in 2010-2011 and $20k in 2011-2012 that is specifically for employees to participate in professional development opportunities. Each year the entire budget is spent on professional development. The numbers of staff participating per fiscal year: 2009-2010 – 83; 2010-2011 –73. The distribution of staff is as follows: 2009-2010: Managers: 9; Full time/Part-Time faculty: 65; Classified Staff: 9; 2010-2011: Managers: 8; Full time/Part-Time faculty: 53; Classified Staff: 12; In addition to these funds being distributed to individuals, there were a few all-employee groups events. In August 2010, Lee Mun Wah, conducted a day long workshop focused on diversity. This event was attended by over 100 staff members with all staff groups represented: managers, classifieds and faculty. The following year the professional development funds paid for an inspirational speaker, Roger Crawford, to address all staff on August 26, 2011. Mr. Crawford was the keynote speaker at the Classified Professional Development day earlier that year. Staff requested that he return in the fall to speak to all employees.

The HR department (separate from the Professional Development funds) pays for a variety of individual, group, and department trainings dependent on needs and the goals of the particular department. For example, the Admissions & Records department participated in a 6-month long facilitated trust and skill building process to assist with strengthening the department’s work processes and build relationships amongst the staff. The Financial Aid department also participated in a similar process.

The management group is currently participating in a year-long training program. The workshops are specific to managers and cover topics such as: Performance Management; Creating a Discrimination Free workplace; Promoting Safety in Community Colleges; Introduction to the Fair Labor and Standards Act; Illness and Injury Prevention program; etc.

The district remains committed to providing opportunities for all staff to pursue higher education. At the most recent SEIU negotiations, the district and SEIU entered into an agreement whereby SEIU employees can take leave and receive 50% of pay if they are pursuing a degree or other approved study program.

Goal 3 - Objective 1: By 2011, establish an IT training program for staff and full and part time faculty, enabling them to be more self-directed and capable in IT applications/maintenance.

Assessment Narrative:
A team of district employees spent approximately four months testing an E-Learning product that the district is considering for continuous IT/Desktop training for all employees. The team was made up of managers, faculty and classified staff. The company, Skillsoft, is a leader in the education environment and agreed to pilot their E-Learning “university” with this “test” group. Skillsoft provided a representative who came to assist the team with navigating through the many courses offered. Skillsoft offers host of IT, Desktop and business courses. Employees would be able to update their technical skills at their desks or in a classroom setting. The learning objects include interactive lessons, workshops, task-based simulations and assessments.

Current evaluation:
Skillsoft was impressed with the team’s interest and thorough evaluation of its product and is willing to continue to pilot the courses for a greater number of employees. The next step is to determine the number of licenses to purchase and have employees begin to utilize the system.

Source(s) of evidence:
List of Trainings for all employees
List of Trainings for managers
Goal 3 – Objective 2: By 2011, establish an application/selection process for interested faculty and staff for training opportunities in leadership development.

Assessment Narrative:
No action has been taken to investigate a concentrated leadership program for faculty and staff. Significant funding and staff availability is needed to fulfill this objective.

Current evaluation:
A lunch-time Leadership discussion group has been meeting since November 2010. This is a small group of administrators and classified staff. The members of this group is very interested in working on researching and developing a formal Leadership Development Program.

Goal 3 - Objective 3 - By 2012, establish a process whereby all classified staff may access professional development identified in the professional development plan.

Assessment Narrative:
At last Classified Professional Development Day (April 2011), a tool, Individual Professional Development Plan (IPDP) was introduced to classified staff for use their optional use. The tool is meant to facilitate a discussion between the employee and his/her supervisor about the employee’s professional development goals. A copy of the IPDP would be sent to the AVP of HR for review. The AVP of HR would in turn identify training opportunities that would assist the employee(s) to reach their goals. If IPDPs reflected that a group of employees are interested in the same training, then the AVP would determine the feasibility of having it conducted on site rather than having the employee attend off-site training.

Current Evaluation:
The next step for the IPDP is implementation. Two employees used the IPDP as a trial last year. One employee entered into a Human Resources Certificate program on her own time and then requested through the IPDP to work in the Human Resources department on her own time. The HR department developed a structured program that parallel the courses the employee enrolled in for fall 2011. The employee still enrolled in the HR certificate program and continues to work with the HR department for hands-on training.
Source(s) of evidence: Individual Professional Development Plan (IPDP) form.

Goal 3 – Objective 4: By 2015, improve satisfaction rate with customer service in all service areas of the college.

Assessment Narrative:
No action has been taken to measure overall customer service satisfaction in the past two years. This objective will be difficult to measure. However, the intention is continuous improvement in customer service throughout the district. Training should be developed and provided on a regular basis for front-line staff and other service intensive areas.

Current evaluation:
The HR department has been exploring district-wide training options for customer-service for employees. The AVP of HR is currently working with the Contract Education department to explore options that are cost effective as well as appropriate for community college staff.

4. Analyze program budget trends and expenditures. Comment on how the program can best use budget resources.

During the 2011-12 academic year, Professional Development funding was cut to $20,000 due to budget cuts at the state level to the college. There were no funds available for orientation. Full-time college employees could receive up to $400 and part-time employees could receive up to $250 during the year.

Approximately $35,000 was spent during each of the previous 5 academic years to fund conferences, workshops or special projects (Fall 2006 - Spring 2011). All college employees are eligible to receive $500 each year given fund availability. This money comes from the colleges Fund 10. Detailed information about the funding process is available on the Professional Development Web Site. All employees requesting funds were accommodated during this period of time. Additional funds ($8000) were available for orientation of new employees. Where there were no or few employees, these funds were moved into the conference budget to accommodate more requests to attend off-campus conferences.

5. Analyze the program's current use of staff, equipment, technology, facilities, and/or other resources. Comment on how the program can best use these resources.

The Professional Development Committee uses all available funds. Records are maintained of all conference requests, denials, and approvals. All conferences and courses funded each year are listed on the program for the annual Pre-Grad Dinner and Awards Celebration held each May.

a. Enter assessment results with analysis.

January 2012: See listing of Classified Staff Professional Development Activities included in the annual PD outcome reports.

Annual Classified Progresional Development Day (CPDD) was successfully implemented.

* Team Building, Leadership and Conflict Management: Essential Workplace Communication Skills
*The Desk Workout and Workplace Wellness
*ASL Basics and Deaf Culture
*Payroll, Benefits, and WebAdvisor Updates for Staff
*Administration held a Classified Staff Appreciation Luncheon, served the Staff and spoke of the many reasons Staff were appreciated on this campus.

Results: 76 attended some or all of the workshops. Online assessment results were overwhelmingly positive.

Second annual CPDD was held March 30, 2010. Topics included:
*Team Building, Leadership and Conflict Management: Essential Workplace Communication Skills - Part II with a focus on Conflict Management
*Personal Defense/Protecting Yourself on Campus
*Transitioning from MS Office 2003 to MS Office 2007
*Retirement Strategies

*Lunch and Team Building Raffle exercise

Results: 56 attended all or some of the workshops.
Note: This was Spring break for faculty and many staff elected to take furlough days during this time. Online survey results were very positive. The day was a success!

The Professional Development Committee used feedback from the first CPDD to improve the second. For example, managers prepared their speeches in advance of the Appreciation Breakfast. During the first appreciation luncheon, the plan was for managers to serve the food. Some decided to speak and highlight staff achievements. During the second CPDD all managers did so.

The third annual Classified Staff Professional Development Day was held on April 22, 2011. Since this was during the regular semester, attendance was enhanced and it was a big success with 130 people. Rodger Crawford was the motivational key-note speaker. Other workshops included: The International Mentor Program, Developing your individual Staff (Professional) Development Plan, Leadership Small Group Discussion, Yoga/Meditation Stress Relief, Microsoft Outlook, Datatel University - Tips & Tricks, CalPERS, Make Your Retirement Income Last a Lifetime, Cultural Competency/Diversity, Crucial Conversations.

Classified Staff Innovation in Professional Development Projects Guidelines were developed, reviewed, and approved by Professional...
Development Committee, Staff, and Management. Then were announced at the Classified Flex Day and by email. Staff received $500 mini-grants upon project completion. Two proposals were submitted:

*Ohlone College Employee Handbook
*Booktalking 2.0 at the Ohlone College Library

The first project was completed and implemented during Fall 2009 by Jackie Whitehouse and Nathan Brown. This handbook is an online manual that provides the key important information for programs and departments at the college. Information about the availability of this handbook was sent out via the college email and a demonstration was given on Fixed Flex day in January 2010. This project was the foundation of the next professional development PIO.

The second project was not completed.

Implementation of the CSEA Professional Development Plan
*Form to track CSEA Professional Development hours and CKUs was developed, approved by the Professional Development Committee, the interim Dean of Human Resources and Dr Browning, the College President. (completed 2008-09)
*The Staff Development Access Data Base was improved to track and report staff flex hours. (completed 2008-09)
*Use of the form and details of the implementation of the CSEA Professional Development Plan are in negotiations.
