GENDER AND WOMEN'S STUDIES

This curriculum is designed to prepare students to explore the condition of women's lives, in of themselves, in relation to each other, and to men. We will assume that these conditions are not the same for all women, that they change historically and oftentimes according to culture, race, ethnicity, class, or sexuality.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Explain key issues in gender and women's studies, including women's equality and political change; masculinity and femininity; racism and racial equality; marriage and the family; sexuality; the representation of gender, race, and sexuality in the mass media; differences between women; and global human rights and violence against women.
2. Evaluate feminist theoretical perspectives, and compare and contrast multiple approaches to the study of women and gender construction.
3. Analyze intersections between gender and other social and cultural identities, including but not limited to race, ethnicity, national origin, religion, class, and sexuality.
4. Articulate connections between global, regional, and local issues, and their relationship to women's experiences and to human rights, with an awareness of the importance of context.
5. Evaluate the ways in which societal institutions and power structures impact the material realities of women's lives.
