Complete this activity and take it to your instructor by the due date.

Directions: Activities one through three show different methods on how to list similarities and differences between two subjects. A Venn diagram is a fourth method. To create a Venn Diagram, draw two intersecting circles on a page. List differences on the non-intersecting portions of the circles (minimum three for each subject). List similarities in the space where the circles intersect (minimum three similarities). See sample below. Use a Venn diagram to compare and contrast two subjects, ideas or concepts.
